the same powers as city governments.

The Municipal Code is divided into 10 major articles—general provisions, organization of municipalities, officers, commission form of government, managerial form of municipal government, territory, finance, local improvements, employees and employment, and corporate powers and functions.

The code applies to both cities and villages.

Categories of corporate powers and functions outlined by the Illinois Municipal Code include:

Health, Safety, Zoning
Public health, safety and welfare—police protection and public order; fire protection; planning, zoning and urban rehabilitation.

Health regulations: hospital and sanitariums; control over building and construction; vehicles.

Powers over certain businesses: general assistance; boats and harbors; cultural activities; cemeteries.

Weights and measures: athletic contests; coin-operated devices.

Oil and gas; railroad safety; continuity of government; general license powers; general powers relating to abatement of nuisances.

Public works, buildings and property—eminent domain (condemnation power) and public works; public buildings; parking facilities; trees and forestry.

Procurement of industrial buildings; lease, sale and transfer of public property; streets and public ways; recreational facilities.

Airports; harbors and watercourses; public land dedications; exhibitions on public property.

Sewers, Utilities
Bridges, viaducts, tunnels and ferries; drains, culverts, cesspools and sewers; flood control and drainage; monuments and memorials; municipal utilities.

Heat, power and light services; transportation systems; harbors and terminals; and water supply and sewage systems.

The code defines a municipality as including cities, villages and incorporated towns, and says corporate authorities referred to in the code are, in the case of a village, the president and board of trustees.

Licensing Power, Penalties
It relates that "the corporate authorities of each municipality may pass all ordinances and make all rules and regulations proper or necessary, to carry into effect the powers granted to municipalities, with such fines or penalties as may be deemed proper."

"No fine or penalty, however—except civil penalties provided for failure to make returns or to pay any taxes levied by the municipality—shall exceed $200 or no imprisonment shall exceed six months for one offense."

Villages, like cities, are creatures of the state government. Their authority is subject only to federal, state and local laws—and to the electorate when officials' terms expire.

Although only limited services and spending are expected to be proposed if the village of Chouteau is created, there will be no such specific limitation in its charter.

Within its financial means, the village operations could be expanded, later or almost at once, depending on the views of village officials. The officials would be chosen in a second election after incorporation was voted by the public.

Numerous Options
Additional territory could then be added to the village and additional services could be started. More village jobs could be created and the pay of various positions could be altered if necessary funds were available.

The village president, with the advice and consent of the board of trustees, would be empowered to appoint a treasurer, one or more street commissioners, a village marshal and "such other officers as may be necessary to carry into effect the powers conferred upon villages."

If a village collector is desired, the village board could add those duties to the office of village clerk.

General city powers relating to financial appropriations and tax levies apply also to villages, and broad licensing powers are granted.

Other than setting up minimum incorporation requirements, Illinois law fails to provide guidelines as to whether a particular incorporation plan should be approved or defeated.

Incorporation has been made so easy that this state leads all other states with 6454 separate governmental agencies, 296% higher than the average and far too many in the

K. C. Leader Urges Civic Activity Support

Herbert G. Downey, state deputy of the Illinois council of the Knights of Columbus, stressed participation in civic and charitable activities at a communion breakfast held by Tri-City K. of C. Council 1088 following the 8 a.m. Mass Sunday at St. Margaret Mary's Church.

He also urged support of Newman foundations at secular colleges in the state and in maintaining campaigns to secure eligible new members. About 150 members and their wives attended.

Other speakers were Rev. A. J. Schwellenbach, pastor of St. Margaret Mary's, and Robert Meisner of Breese, worthy master of the fourth degree of the Southern Illinois district.

Edward Lenzi, the council financial secretary, served as master of ceremonies. Others on the program were Steve Saltich, district deputy, and Leo Portell, grand knight.

opinion of most authorities. Past governmental decisions by Mitchell area residents have been spaced over a long period of years.

The first public school was established in the early 1870s as a one-room frame structure at the site of the present large Mitchell grade school.

School Unification
St. Thomas school at the St. Thomas railroad station was erected in 1903 and Adams school was built on Chouteau Island. Both of these one-room schools were discontinued after unification of schools in the Mitchell-Granite City area into a single community unit school district in 1950, with boundaries extending to the Hartford canal.

A Mitchell volunteer fire department was created in 1945 with the aid of contributions by residents and the fire station was completed in 1947. The Mitchell fire protection district was formed in a 227-to-3 vote by the public on Dec. 10, 1949, and serves a 37-square-mile area extending to Sunset Hill, SIU-SW, the Hartford canal, Mississippi River and Long Lake fire district boundaries.

By a vote of 571-to-15 on Sept. 7, 1957, the Mitchell public water distribution district was organized. Water service began May 21, 1962. The district at present is studying the feasibility of a sanitary sewer system.

A postal sub-station was established in a specially-constructed building at 506 Chain of Rocks road under jurisdiction of the Granite City post office in August 1964, with mounted route delivery.

Natural gas service was extended to 350 homes south of Bypass 66 (Chain of Rocks road and 450 homes north of the road in the early 1960s.

Park Proposal Defeated
Creation of a Mitchell park district was defeated in a referendum Sept. 28, 1963.

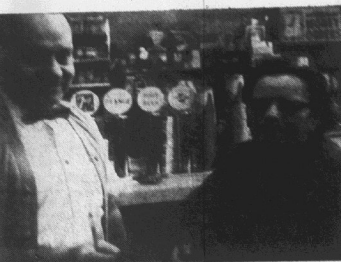

Incorporation of a municipality in the Mitchell area has been discussed on several past occasions, failing to come to a vote when substantial opposition developed.

However, there is a precedent for formation of a village in Chouteau township. South Roxana voted affirmatively on such a proposal last March 4, after two previous negative votes.

Attorney Francis Manning of Wood River, who handled legal aspects of the South Roxana incorporation, is aiding the Chouteau village proponents.

In June 1964 the Madison County Board of Supervisors split the original Mitchell voting precinct, Chouteau township, Precinct One. It had reached 1619 registered voters, with 818 voting that spring.

The New York Central Railroad right-of-way was designated as the dividing line, with the area west of it, crossing becoming Precinct Four and the eastern area remaining in Precinct One.

$300 WINNER in the Jackpot contest at Schermer Bros. Market is Mrs. Troy W. Elkins, 2073 Four-Lee Schermer.

Miller Named President Of Inter-City League

Ollie Miller, manager of the Mercer baseball team, was elected president of the Southwestern Illinois Inter-City Baseball League for a five-year term at a meeting Sunday at the Knights of Columbus club.

He succeeds Henry Heuser, Troy, who retired as president but will continue as the league treasurer.

Charles Brisky of Collinsville, formerly of Granite City and long associated with the Hearts club, was re-elected to a five-year term as a member of the board of arbitration.

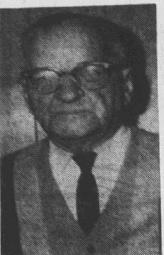

William Morris of Granite City also is a member of that board.

John Lucas of Collinsville continues as recording secretary and Leroy Escher of O'Fallon serves as vice-president and statistician.

Miller became active in the league in 1936, serving as an umpire until 1953. He became a coach of the Pontoon AC team until 1956, took over the Steelworkers club for four years and then became manager of the Mercer team.

As president, he no longer will have a direct affiliation with a team.

Composition of the league for the 1968 season will be determined at a meeting Feb. 18 at Maryville.

Kahok, Blue Devil Fives

The Granite City high school Warrior basketball team was unable to win either of its two home games over the weekend, being overpowered by Collinsville 61-50 Friday night and then being noosed out by Quincy 45-41 Saturday evening.

Coach Don Deterding attributed the weekend's frustration to the fact that his players "just couldn't hit the basket."

We got off more shots than Collinsville, but the ball wasn't going in.

"We also made a lot of floor mistakes that really hurt us. This is the worst we have looked all year, including any of the early games."

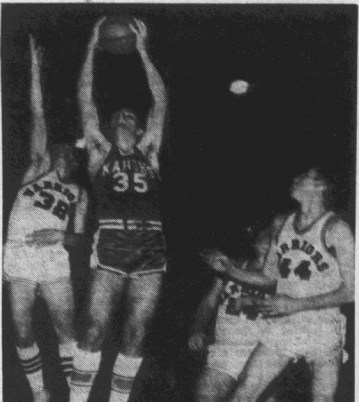

Granite City made only 16 of 63 shots for 25% Friday and 13 of 45 attempts for 29% Saturday.

Honerkamp and Falgout Wedding at St. Mary's

St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Madison, was the scene of the wedding Saturday of Miss Sharon L. Falgout, daughter of Mrs. Judith Falgout, 1622 Third street, Madison, and the late Frank Falgout, as she became the bride of Gary G. Honerkamp, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Honerkamp, who reside at 2439 Adams street.

The church was decorated with white gladioli and poms. Father Sylvester Mick, O.F.M., officiated at the double-ring ceremony at 10 o'clock. Mrs. George McGarran, organist, accompanied Mrs. Robert Stevens, soloist, as she sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother."

The bride was escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by an uncle, C. P. Lindsey. She was in a pure white peau de sole gown fashioned with a wide panel of Chantilly lace accented with tiny pearls. The gown was fastened with the sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves of scalloped lace. The Empire bodice was self banded and the long skirt fell in an A-line. The detachable train fell from a soft bow into a sweep.

The bride's veil was fashioned of original French lace, received as a gift for the bride from a friend living in Calais, France. A double-jeweled crown held securely the illusion veil fashioned with the lace swooping to the hemline and split down the back.

A cascade bouquet of stephanotis centered with a detachable white orchid corsage tied with streamers was carried by the bride.

Thomas Honerkamp, brother of the groom, served as best man, with Robert Clinton, Casimir Krakowicki and Andrew Radkewicz as groomsmen. Kevin Mueller, cousin of the bride, was the ringbearer. Litter-Mates Make Mark in Cat World

Three chocolate-point Siamese cats born in the same litter at the Willow Walk Cattery near Mitchell are making their mark in the feline world, according to Mrs. David D. Taylor, proprietor.

The local cat breeder said she was notified last week that Willow Walk Can-Can, a female Siamese owned by Lt. Cmdr. (ret.) J. P. Curless of Lexington, Ky., recently captured championship honors at the Ohio State Cat Club in Columbus, O. The feline will be entered in the Cincinnati Cat Club show on Feb. 10 and 11, its owner reported.

Another female from the same litter, Willow Walk Collete, owned by Mrs. Taylor, won her championship ribbons in November at the Greater St. Louis Cat Show, while a male Siamese, Willow Walk Timur, also a litter-mate, is the much photographed, favorite companion of Metropolitan Opera star Marcia Baldwin of New York City.

Doctor Forecasts Use Of Mechanical Hearts

Heart transplants are not necessarily the answer to the person suffering with heart disease, when hundreds of thousands need new hearts and so few are available; the best answer appears to lie in development of a mechanical heart and such a unit is now being devised, according to Dr. Hector Zevallos, a local gynecologist and obstetrician.

Speaking to Granite City Optimists at their luncheon meeting in the YMCA Thursday, the physician described several new ideas in medicine, including more effective heart transplants and drugs being produced.

Commenting about recent successful heart transplant surgery, Dr. Zevallos said that although this constituted a great triumph in medicine, transplantation of other vital organs appears more spectacular to the physician. He mentioned transplant surgical techniques involving kidneys, liver, intestines and ovaries as modern-day accomplishments.

He went on to describe a procedure evolved within the past several years which no longer requires an infant whose blood contains the Rh factor to receive an immediate exchange of blood at birth. The physician said this problem is detected early and injections are given prior to birth to remedy it.

In more serious situations than ever before, cancer is treatable and curable. Dr. Zevallos said, adding that lung cancer continues to account for 30% of cancer deaths.

New drugs which lower the cholesterol content of the blood have been developed for cardiovascular patients, and electronic monitoring equipment, operated by remote control, enables heart patients to be monitored on a continual basis.

Vaccines are being developed for tuberculosis, hepatitis and other diseases, Dr. Zevallos pointed out. He said that in the not too distant future, lifespan may be lengthened to 100 and 110 years, from the present mid-70-year level.

The guest speaker was introduced by Robert Brive, program chairman. Two trophies were presented to the Optimist club by James Boone, co-manager of the Optimist-sponsored Midlet Division basketball team. The awards were accepted by Dr. Raymond E. Troyer, club president.

The trophies represented a first-place award won by the 112-year-old boys of the Granite City park district's Jim Holland League and a second-place award captured by the local boys in a post-season East Aon baseball tournament.

Simon, Shriver Backed

State Senator Paul Simon's bid for the Democratic U. S. senator nomination had an uneven weekend. A survey of newspaper editors in the state showed 81.2% would prefer him if a downstate is nominated and 60.1% favor him as nominee regardless of geography. However, a dozen members of the Cook county Democratic committee said they favor Sargent Shriver, anti-poverty chief and brother-in-law of the late President Kennedy.

We believe that the YMCA sponsorship of this adult education program is a genuine community service," Marvin VanMetre, "Y" adult program director commented.

"Businessman, professional man, sales people, housewives, clubwoman, office personnel—every adult will benefit from this training. It will build a new enthusiasm, develop self-confidence if create a new understanding among the citizens of our town," VanMetre said.

YMCA's in other areas report that the classes have an important influence on human relations in their communities," he added.

The first three meetings will be free demonstration sessions in the YMCA on Tuesday, Feb. 13, Wednesday, Feb. 14, and Thursday, Feb. 15. The public is invited. There is no cost or obligation in attending. VanMetre said.

The purpose of the demonstration meetings is to acquaint visitors with Dale Carnegie methods in effective speaking, human relations and leadership training. One of the features will be a demonstration of one remarkable memory training technique developed by Dale Carnegie.

Fines, Fees Waived By SIU Library Two Days

In connection with its current display on thefts and mutilations of its resources, Lovejoy Library at SIU-SW is observing "amnesty" days today and tomorrow.

"No fines, no fees, no questions asked," says a George Grant circulation librarian. "If this effort we are encouraging the return of overdue materials with the fines due cancelled. Even if they have been registered with Accounts Receivable, and inviting the return of materials either intentionally or unintentionally removed from the library without proper charging.

"We have established that the library's collection is continually weakened by thefts and mutilations of materials," Grant said. "We hope now to lay the groundwork for the recovery of stolen materials and the curbing of incidents of mutilations." Pick up service will be available through or by 692-2173 or 692-2173.

Maddox-Austin Wedding Here

Venice Baptist Church, 1247 Klein street, was the scene Saturday evening of the wedding of Miss Judy Fay Austin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Austin, 200 Broadway, Venice, and Robert Perry Maddox Jr., son of Robert Maddox Jr., Jerseyville, Ill., and Mrs. Barbara Maddox, Indiana, Ind.

Before an altar banked with white mums and greenery, Rev. Howard Priest performed the 5 o'clock candlelight double ring ceremony.

The bride wore an Empire style gown of peau de sole, accented with a panel of embroidered Alencon lace at the front. The floor-length skirt was A-line, and there were long tapered sleeves of lace at the bodice, which had a rounded neckline. A bouffant veil of tulle was held in place by a satin band embellished with pearls, and the bride's bouquet was a cascade of white carnations and white roses.

Mrs. Joyce Miller, matron of honor, chose a pale blue full-length dress of dotted Swiss, fashioned along Empire lines. A blue feathered headpiece secured her nuptial veil in matching color, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

Richard T. Foley served as best man and Robert McIntosh and James Maddox, a brother of the groom, were ushers. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Littlejohn, 18 Lakeside drive, were hosts to a reception which immediately followed the ceremony.

Mrs. Austin, mother of the bride, selected a two-piece white suit trimmed with black and matching accessories. Her flowers were yellow carnations. The mother of the groom, Mrs. Maddox, appeared in a two-piece pink suit and black accessories. She wore a pink carnation corsage.

The former Miss Austin graduated from Venice high school in 1967 and is employed at the American Insurance Co., St. Louis.

Mr. Maddox is a 1967 graduate of Jerseyville high school. He is employed at the Banquet Frozen Foods Co., St. Louis.

Inflation Caused By U. S. Deficits

(The Wall Street Journal)

For years the Administration's theorists have been saying that all those budget deficits are nothing to worry about; now at long last at least a little concern.

It's not that the Government finally recognizes that the deficit, financed through the budget system, has been putting powerful upward pressure on prices. The official line is that inflation is chiefly, if not solely, the fault of enterprising businessmen and labor leaders.

Nor does the Administration as yet appear bothered by the burden the deficits hand on to future generations.

Though the cost of merely servicing the huge debt is mounting rapidly, Washington still is only too willing to live for today and let tomorrow fend for itself.

Instead, one key concern may be partly technical. While the fiscal economists like deficits, they absolutely love low interest rates. And it has suddenly struck them that the two objects of their affection aren't always compatible.

Just how the one can thwart the other became abundantly plain during 1967. The Federal Reserve System was pouring funds into the banks at so low a rate that the money supply rose more rapidly, on a monthly average basis, than it had in any year since the Fed started keeping track of the figures.

That sort of operation, of course, produces a flood of interest rates if, as the economists say, all other things are equal. Yet interest rates in 1967 moved sharply higher to levels unmatched in the 1920s. Other things, quite obviously, weren't exactly equal.

For one of those other things, businessmen in an excessive, unbridled economy were stepping up borrowing.

Some, fearful of more inflation, were eager for loans they could repay in tomorrow's cheaper dollars.

But that was far from the whole story.

As Federal Reserve Board member Andrew F. Brimmer explained a few days ago, the added reserves the Fed provided to the banks "went back to finance the Government," i.e., to finance its deficits. If the System hadn't done this, he suggested, interest rates would have been pushed even higher.

Of the $74 billion raised in financial markets last year, the Government got about 13%, compared with the Treasury's 10% share of the total in 1966 and with its 5% since 1965.

The Government's growing grabiness thus was frustrating its desire to push interest rates down.

In passing, it's worth noting that the Treasury borrowing was also making it difficult for the Reserve Board ever to switch to a responsible monetary policy if it wanted to; the administration presumably still does not fret much about that.

In any case, the Administration eventually decided something had to be done, and in his first message of the year, President Johnson announced that the deficit would be cut from $20 billion in the current fiscal year to a mere $9 billion in the year starting July 1.

The reduction, naturally, would come from any upsurge of Federal frugality. The Administration plans to spend $40 billion more next year than it is spending this 12 months.

The $12 billion cut in the deficit, if it materializes, will come dollar for dollar from borrowing the public with $12 billion more in taxes.

So, deficits can at times be embarrassing to the upper reaches of Government. But when it comes to the palm, that's reserved for us common people.

Both Sides In A. O. Smith Shutdown Should Quit Sparring; Negotiate Round-the-Clock

The strike at the A. O. Smith plant today entered its 29th day. And it doesn't seem any nearer settlement than it was the first day; for that matter, during the several months period prior to Jan. 1 when more than a score of negotiating sessions were held.

What is wrong? There have been charges and counter-charges, claims and counter-claims back and forth between the company and officials of Boilermakers Local 575. Sometimes we wonder if both sides are sitting at the same table and really working out an agreement, no matter how long they have to stay in session.

But this doesn't make sense. A plant that is shut down can't make a profit, nor can its idle men make a living for their families. And, the longer this stalemate continues, the more difficult it will be to restore job incomes and company profits.

Meanwhile, not only those directly involved in the strike—company and employees—must suffer, but the economy of the entire community is adversely affected. Surely, the employees can find other jobs and, sure, the company has work going on in other plants. But this is no consolation to the Granite City plant or to its employees.

The stalemate has gone on too long. Both sides should take a good hard look at their positions. They should determine to sit down and talk out their differences, no matter if it takes round-the-clock shifts, perhaps, with a union demand for a complete company proposal that the membership could discuss, then go back to the negotiating table with their own proposals, or vice versa.

The leadership on both sides has a grave obligation. There should be no further dilly-dallying. There should be no future for anyone in a six-month or 12-month stalemate.

Few strikes are never settled. Why not settle this one now?

Missouri Finally Coming to Grips With Transit Financing Problem

Perhaps half a loaf is better than none. The Missouri legislature, which has dragged its feet badly in subsidizing urban transit, now may proceed to do so.

It once thought the proposed tax rate ceiling for village administration?

Do they know plans are already being prepared for a se-vice system at an estimated cost of $500 per home, plus usage cost?

They want zoning restrictions removed, thus inviting more blighted areas, as can be seen along Highway 67.

One thought is that with the county zoning laws removed from the would-be village and from the adjacent undeveloped areas, the development contrary to the public interest.

I appeal to the home owners, returners and businessmen of Chouteau township for a "No

vide $300,000 rather than the $600,000 sought for the Bi-State Transit System.

If this amount is voted, it may be possible to also obtain half of the $400,000 voted by the Illinois General Assembly (containing on some Missouri action) and half of $2 million offered by the federal government.

Bi-State Transit, which serves the entire metropolitan area as a result of past unification of bus firms, is the only major publicly-owned transportation system in the U. S. operated soley on revenues derived from the farebox. As a consequence, its fares have risen and services have been reduced.

If the Missouri plan voted 83-65 by the House on Thursday becomes law, further curtailment of transit routes may be avoided and renewed thought can be given to improving a vital public service.

Value of Proposed Apartments Exceeds

All Residential Construction in 1967

Importance of the Granite City Village

Apartments project has been shown by the amount of investment involved—$1,300,- 000.

During all of 1967, residential construction in Granite City totaled $1,271,800. The 51 permits issued for residential purposes were the largest category among the overall list of building permits, which totaled $3,045,733 for the year.

With a single action, the city council is in a position to authorize a 128-apartment development more valuable than all the dwellings started throughout the city last year. This would assure a marked increase in the pace of building activity here, bolstering employment as well as helping to meet the demand for additional apartments.

The 20 buildings would occupy an area of 765x226 square feet, achieving a big breakthrough in development of an 117-acre site located in Granite City in 1965. This could improve the chances of obtaining financing for similar utilization of other sections of the large tract.

The improvement that has been proposed is so well-planned and so sound that actual construction work could begin almost immediately. Its funds have been arranged through insurance companies.

Rather than forcing the roomy design to be rearranged and crowded, the city government should approve the plan to rezone a 50x226-foot area and accept free charge a 100x226-foot area that could serve as an attractive vista of grass and trees.

Maintenance of the parkway that would result could be worked out through understandings between council and park officials, which might well discuss the St. Clair avenue median strip and any other problem areas.

Some difficulties and misunderstandings have arisen in past park-city dealings, but surely reasonable people can devise a reasonable solution to the public desire for a growing, prosperous, beautiful and green community.

Council Expediting Its Scheduled

Improvement of Busy Johnson Road

The prospect that Johnson road can be improved for part of its length this year is heartening to motorists, who have made it the first busiest local thoroughfare.

Once thought of as a country lane, Johnson road is now in the heart of a busy commercial and residential area. The paving project is deserving of the high priority now being accorded it by the Granite City council.

Farm Column

By WARREN W. BUNDY,
Madison County Farm Adviser

Corn Production Up

Corn in Madison county averaged 96 bushels per acre in 1967, compared with 62 bushels in 1966 and 88 bushels in 1965, according to preliminary data released by the Illinois Cooperative Crop Reporting Service.

Soybeans averaged 32 bushels per acre in Madison county in 1967, compared with 25 bushels in 1966 and 29 bushels in 1965.

State averages of 100 bushels of corn per acre and 31 bushels of soybeans per acre in 1967 were reported by the Reporting Service.

Dollar-wise, farmers are not as well off as the bumper-crop yields in 1967 might seem to indicate. Main reasons are higher farm expenses, lower prices for products sold, and problems of getting the 1967 corn and soybean crops harvested.

Lenders and farmers share one major interest—money.

The amount of money farmers borrow from Illinois lenders amounts to hundreds of millions of dollars each year, reports J. M. Holcomb, University of Illinois Extension agricultural finance specialist.

Illinois' 1965 insured commercial banks, 904 held farm loans totaling $78.4 million as of Jan. 1, 1967. In addition, bankers held $23.5 million of Commodity Credit Corp. paper for the federal government's farm price-support program.

Reporting from statistics released by the American Bankers Association's agricultural committee, Holcomb said Illinois creditors held $76.2 million in nonreal estate loans as of Jan. 1, 1967.

Nonreal estate loans repayable in one year are made to meet current operating and living expenses. Nonreal estate loans requiring more than a 12-month repayment program are made for investments in machinery, livestock and property improvements. These loans are usually not secured by farm real estate.

Of the $76.2 million in non-real estate loans, banks accounted for $66.3 million, Production Credit Association for $13.4 million and the Farmers Home Administration for $6.5 million, Holcomb explained.

Farm real estate loans, secured by mortgages on farmland and improvements, totaled more than one billion dollars by Jan. 1, 1967. These loans related outlays for the purchase of farm units or additional land or both.

Commercial banks loaned $172.2 million for real estate loans; Federal Land Banks, $257 million; life insurance companies, $230.8 million; individuals, $222.3 million; and the Farmers Home Administration, $7.8 million, Holcomb concluded.

Deductible Expenses

With farm income tax filing time at hand, some of the deductible business expenses often overlooked by farmers are listed by F. M. Sims, U. of I. Extension farm management specialist, as follows:

Farm and breed organization dues.

Farm magazine subscriptions.

Extension telephone in farm buildings and long-distance business telephone calls.

Fees for record-keeping services, management help, tax consultants, attorneys and accountants.

Expenses for exhibiting at fairs.

Supplies and tools, such as wrenches, grease gun and chains.

Repair or cleanup after a casualty such as a tornado.

Penalty charges for paying off a mortgage before its due date.

Office or office space in the home.

Farm business advertising.

Wages paid to children for reasonable services rendered.

State-deposit box used in business.

Farm record books, business postage and stationery.

This list is only a start, Sims says. A competent tax practitioner can help you decide and give you suggestions on which farm business and personal expense items are deductible on your farm income tax forms.
